The About the Portal page introduces the SI Exchange Portal and its role in connecting government personnel with resources that support the responsible development, evaluation, and use of super intelligence. The Portal is designed to improve access to relevant knowledge, guidance, tools, and best practices while encouraging collaboration across organizations and mission areas. By bringing information together in a centralized, accessible environment, the Portal helps users discover resources, explore emerging technologies, and better understand SI assurance considerations. This page provides visitors with an overview of the Portal's purpose, intended audience, capabilities, and value to the government SI community.
